

A Short Story, shrouded in mystery

Larry D. showed up at his scheduled Thursday meeting to share his acquired wisdom. Not wanting to directly address it, the fact that his hand had obviously suffered some trauma could not be ignored. The fact that he wouldn't explain led to rumors of reported late night fight club activities. One senior wag suggested that it might have been the result of a senior MMA match gone wrong. We all ask Larry to come clean. Solera wants to know.

Left Hook Gone wrong? How's the other guy?

An update suggests that Larry's hand now appears normal, bandages gone. But still the mystery remains.